

Troy D'Souza

Senior Engagement and Education Specialist
Advanced Planning Department
Toyota Motor Corporation Australia Limited

Troy has worked in the automotive industry for almost 20 years. He has been with Toyota Australia for over 10 years, working within Quality Engineering, Product Planning and now Advanced Planning departments.

His main focus in his current role involves managing engagement events and education opportunities to build the awareness and knowledge in Australia for fuel cell electric vehicles and hydrogen technologies. He coordinates and supports all engagement events for the Toyota Mirai fuel cell electric vehicles when on display to explain the technology.

Troy also manages Australia's first ever fuel cell electric vehicle trial program with external participants which launched in October 2018.
